Orange wine, a style of wine that dates back around 8,000 years, which are macerated or fermented on their skins and acquire a hue that varies from gold through orange to amber, in addition to real structure and tannin. Effectively, white wines made in the same spirit as traditional reds. You can drink these with fish, meat and even game.

289	2009	Arbois Vin Jaune, Domaine Daniel Dugois - Jura, France		115.00

Yellow wine is made from late harvest Savagnin grapes and is aged by law for 6 years on ullage in oak barrels. The wine undergoes a process, whereby a film of yeast (voile) covers the surface, thereby preventing oxidation but allowing evaporation and subsequent concentration of the wine, then bottled in 62cl Clavelins as after its allotted time in barrel. A deep golden in the glass. A beautifully concentrated nose of almonds, dried fruit, ginger and hints of spice. Bone-dry and intense with notes of pear and walnut followed by rich long finish

160	Vecchio Samperi Ventennale, Marco de Bartoli - Marsala, Italy		150.00

Vecchio Samperi the de Bartolis use the ancient perpetuumaging method that, through the addition of some new, young wine to wines that are already being aged in barrels, allows to create a harmonious blend of different vintages, with a unique and inimitable taste. Grillo vines planted between 1970 and 1996 in C.da Samperi, Marsala, The yields 4 t/ha. The grapes are picked and selected by hand, soft pressed, naturally decanted, and traditionally fermented with wild yeasts at room temperature, in oak and chestnut barrels. Dry, intense and mellow with flavours of chestnuts, Brazil nuts and orange peel.
